The Power of Collaboration

ETHICS: A MORAL DUTY AND OBLIGATION

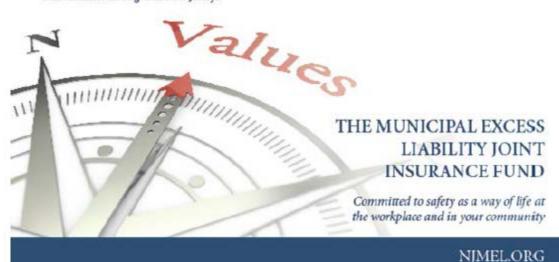

The challenge is that the regulations are often complex and difficult to interpret without professional assistance. And the outcome of a poor decision can include criminal action, fines, punitive damages, and loss of reputation. The old fashioned "red face" or "smell" test is no longer sufficient to determine the ethical nature of a decision.

Each year, the MEL conducts a seminar at the League of Municipalities convention to acquaint local officials with the risk management challenges facing government decision makers.

This year, the MEL will present "Ethics for Local Government Officials" at 3:45 pm on Wednesday, November 16. The seminar will include case studies allowing participants to test their knowledge of regulations. MEL members who attend earn a discount on their community's premium.

In addition to the League session, the MEL will also conduct this seminar at convenient locations throughout the state.

The power of collaboration: providing the information needed to improve risk management in communities throughout New Jersey.

Safety Director Bulletin

September 2016

Safety in the Office Environment

Safety in the office environment is not automatic. It is easy to let your guard down in an air-conditioned, carpeted, and well-lit office. DON'T. While offices are safer than a water treatment plant, there are hazards that need to be addressed by office managers and office workers.

Avoiding slip - trip - fall injuries

S-T-F injuries are the most common and costly injuries to office workers. The Safety Director recommends work places be periodically inspected for hazardous conditions. Pay particular attention to:

- Surfaces of floors Carpets can fray and lift up. Tiles can get slippery or loosen. Water can accumulate by doors, or in front of kitchen and bathroom sinks. Even the odd piece of paper left on the floor becomes a slip hazard.
 - Managers should establish a culture where conditions such as spilled water are handled immediately as an act of caring for coworkers and visitors. Provide warning signs and caution tape for when conditions can-not be corrected by office staff and must be reported to facilities. Follow-up reported deficiencies so that they are not allowed to exist indefinitely.
- Objects on or near the floor -Look for typical objects that present trip hazards, such as electrical cords, open drawers or boxes and purses on the floor. Make it a habit to store these items in a place other than on the floor next to you, or in an aisle. Carrying large items in front of you can obstruct your view of the floor, further increasing the risk. Avoid this behavior and use a cart instead.

Standing on chairs is a dangerous act. Get a ladder or step stool Lighting – Poor lighting is a contributing factor in many slip and trip injuries. Stairwells are especially troublesome areas. It is not uncommon for facilities to reduce electrical bills by turning off some light fixtures in stairwells. The national standard for illumination in offices varies from 250 to 500 lumens, depending on the task. There are smartphone apps that can measure light levels to guide managers when additional lighting is needed.

Musculoskeletal injuries from lifting & carrying

Strains and sprains to shoulders, knees and backs are also among the most common injuries to office workers. The Safety Director recommends these best practices to protect workers when lifting and carrying objects:

• Managers have an obligation to discuss with workers their expectation of how much should be lifted and carried by office staff. Consider the weight, size and shape of the object, the height of the lift and the level the object will be placed down. Use common tasks such as a box of computer paper, desktop printers, water jugs, etc. as examples of what should be attempted by office workers and when help should be requested. Make it clear that you WANT staff to ask for help with heavy or awkward objects, and EXPECT coworkers to help each others.

This bulletin is intended for general information purposes only. It should not be construed as legal advice or legal opinion regarding any specific or factual situation. Always follow your organization's policies and procedures as presented by your manager or supervisor. For further information regarding this bulletin, contact your Safety Director at 877.398.3046.

- Mechanical aids to assist with lifting and carrying must be readily available. Hand trucks, carts, or even a chair with wheels can reduce the strain of carrying heavy objects. Or, make multiple trips. The closer the device is to the area, the more likely it will be used. Many injuries occur when a hand truck was present, but on the other side of the building or another floor. The answer is having multiple devices.
- Store heavier items on shelves that are at waist-height. Store lighter objects on the floor and top shelves.
 When accessing items from shelves that are over shoulder-height, use a rolling set of stairs instead of a ladder. Proper use of a ladder requires three-points-of-contact. Using two hands to lift an object from a shelf while standing on a ladder, will always violate this basic safety rule.

Setting up your work station

Proper body mechanics can help improve productivity and reduce discomfort. The ideal desk / chair set-up replicates your neutral body posture. OSHA's Computer Station eTool gives the following guidelines to initially adjust your chair:

- Hands, wrists, and forearms are straight, in-line and roughly parallel to the floor.
- Head is level or bent slightly forward, facing forward, and balanced; generally in-line with the torso.
- Shoulders are relaxed and upper arms hang normally at the side of the body.
- Elbows stay in close to the body and are bent between 90° and 120°.
- Feet are fully supported by the floor or a footrest may be used if the desk height is not adjustable.
- Back is fully supported with appropriate lumbar support when sitting vertical or leaning back slightly.
- Thighs and hips are supported by a well-padded seat and generally parallel to the floor.
- Knees are about the same height as the hips with the feet slightly forward.

Once you have adjusted your chair to these generic guidelines, you may have to fine tune the adjustments to better suit YOUR neutral or relaxed posture. Consider these tips for setting up the top of your desk:

- Monitors are between 20 and 28 inches away, and the top of the screen is at or just below eye level.
 Place monitors perpendicular to windows to reduce glare.
- Keyboards should be directly in front of you and at a height where your shoulders are relaxed and your elbows are close to your body. Your wrists ought to be straight and in-line with your forearms. Padded supports can help achieve this alignment and to avoid resting hands or forearms on the edges of a desk.
- Mouse / pointers are positioned close to keyboard. Keyboard shortcuts can reduce the strain of reaching for pointers. Trackballs, touch pads, and finger tip joysticks offer opportunities to further reduce stresses of reaching and moving a traditional mouse.
- Telephones also need to be kept close to you to minimize reaching for the handset. If work requires significant time on the phone, or entering data onto a computer while on the phone, a headset or speaker will reduce shoulder and neck strain.

OSHA (www.osha.gov) and N.J. PEOSH / DOH (http://www.state.nj.us/health/peosh/peoshvdt.shtml) offer additional guidance. Even with perfectly adjusted and laid-out chairs and desks, workers are encouraged to periodically move from their desks for several seconds and stretch those static muscles.

Safety in an office setting is not automatic. It takes a commitment on the part of office managers, office workers, and facilities to create a place that is free of recognizable hazards to workers and visitors. Office managers are encouraged to do three things:

- 1. Talk to staff frequently about your expectations of creating a safe workplace and hold them accountable.
- 2. Conduct Job Site Observations. Office tasks can be made safer if we look for better alternatives.
- Inspect your areas for undesirable conditions. Fix or report them and document your efforts.

Safety Director Bulletin

September 2016

September is National Preparedness Month

As public entity employers and employees, your communities rely on you for many essential services such as emergency response, snow plowing, and maintaining facilities in a ready and safe condition. With that role, comes great responsibility to ensure the agency's equipment and personnel are ready for a disaster or large-scale event. September is National Preparedness Month. Preparedness starts with having a plan for the department, workers and their families while you restore your agency's services and facilities. One of the lessons of Hurricane Katrina is that workers need to know their families and homes are taken care of before they can focus on their own safety and the restoration of the community. This bulletin offers tips to prepare for severe weather events, such as snow storms and hurricanes.

Public Employers

Public agencies must make plans to prepare for severe weather events. While police, fire, public works, and other departments will be called upon, and must be prepared to assist their communities, they must also prepare for the possibility that they may also be affected by the event. Department leaders are reminded of their obligation to protect their own, so they can protect others. Now is the time to prepare your facility, equipment, personnel, and business infrastructure for the possibility that you will be the one in need. Consider the following steps:

Discuss claim reporting procedures with your risk manager. Make sure there is a clear reporting procedure from the person finding the storm damage, to the department's representative, to the Fund's Claim Representative. Work with your Risk Consultant to identify possible insurance gaps and discuss other areas of vulnerability.

Develop a Loss Management or Business Continuity Plan. Identify the department's critical functions and infrastructure. Create mutual aid pacts and vendor lists to provide those services, or replace affected infrastructure if lost to storm water or wind. Take pictures of building and essential equipment. Safeguard vital records.

Develop salvage response plans. Protect your property from further damage wherever possible by restoring fireprotection systems, repairing leaks, providing temporary support and restoring power.

Have a written plan for critical tasks as a storm is predicted to approach. If a facility is in a historically vulnerable area, consider relocating personnel and equipment before the storm hits.

Prepare facilities & grounds - Survey the grounds and exterior of the building for loose objects and properly secure. Tape or board up windows. Trim trees from building. Gather mitigation resources such as sandbags, food & water, personal sundry items plastic sheeting & duct tape, extra mops, squeegees, etc. Make sure gasoline or diesel generators' fuel tanks are full. Secure sheds and other outbuildings. Make sure utility shut-offs are labeled and locations are known by occupants.

Prepare equipment - Fill vehicle fuel tanks. Know where to get extra fuel if electric fuel pumps go down. Perform routine maintenance on saws, pumps, etc. Sharpen blades. Buy extras.

This bulletin is intended for general information purposes only. It should not be construed as legal advice or legal opinion regarding any specific or factual situation. Always follow your organization's policies and procedures as presented by your manager or supervisor. For further information regarding this bulletin, contact your Safety Director at 877.398.3046.

Prepare your personnel – Workers must be trained to properly respond storm conditions. This is not part of normal job training and must be provided by employers. Encourage them to have Go Bags packed. As the storm nears, remind workers to sleep, eat, and hydrate themselves in preparation for potential extended and strenuous work periods.

Prepare workers' families – Essential personnel cannot be available or effective if their families are not taken care of. Leaders must work with Administration, Human Resources, banks, Red Cross, etc. to make sure families are safely evacuated and cared for well ahead of the approaching storm.

Employees' Homes

Like workplaces, the homes' of public employees must also be ready for weather events when they may be called to duty, potentially for extended periods of time. The severe weather season starts with the Hurricane Season in June and continues through the winter snow season. During cool fall weather is a good time to prepare homes for the upcoming severe weather season.

Clean gutters and downspouts. Make sure drainage is provided from the downspouts to a safe location.

Get snow shovels out of storage and check they are in good shape. Purchase ice melt and replacement shovels now. If a snow service is contracted, verify service plan meets the family needs while the employee is away servicing the community.

Check and service home mechanical systems. This can include furnaces, emergency generators, and sump pumps. Look for tree limbs overhanging electrical supply wires to the home and have them cleared. Know where the shut-offs are. Label them and educate another responsible family member of their location and use.

Check insurance coverages. An agent can clearly explain coverages and exclusions. Ask some, "What if . . ." questions to check understanding. Make sure adult members of the household understand immediate payment procedures for home repairs or relocation for the family if something were to happen while you are unavailable.

Post important phone numbers and save them to cell phones of family members. Include friends, family, neighbors who can help in an emergency. Also, include emergency and routine service companies for furnace, electrical service, plumbing, etc.

When a severe weather event is forecasted:

- Order home heating or cooking fuel (such as oil or propane) deliveries
- Check flashlights and weather radio, and have spare batteries
- o Survey the exterior of the home and secure loose items, such as lawn furniture and trash containers
- o Keep cell phones fully charged

Employees' Personal Vehicles

Most employees need to use their personal vehicles to get to work. After they leave, spouses and children may be using additional household cars to shop, go to school, etc. Personal vehicle and other vehicles in the household should be kept in good operating condition.

How old are the batteries? Are they ready for the coldest winter days, when you may be called in to plow streets?

Are the defroster and heater working properly? Are windshield wipers in good condition?

Add emergency equipment to vehicles; ice scraper, kitty litter / salt, blanket, flashlight, and snack food.

Have a conversation with other drivers in the household. Employees are most likely to have had some training and experience driving in inclement weather. Remind others, especially inexperienced drivers, of best practices when driving in storms, snow / ice, flooded roads, when to stay with vehicle and when to leave, etc.

When a severe weather event is forecasted:

- Fuel all vehicles
- Double-check the above list of items

Employees' Families

During inclement weather events, schools and daycare centers may be closed. If the spouse works, this can create a dilemma. Make multiple provisions for children, or other household members with supervision needs. Even if the spouse does not work, ensure you both have time to sleep while the children are being supervised.

When a severe weather event is forecasted:

- Make sure there is adequate food, including some that does not have to be heated, for a couple of days.
- Verify emergency contacts numbers and availability. Make back-up communication plans if primary contact numbers or cell systems are affected.
- Check supply of medications for family members. It may be difficult to get to an open and stocked pharmacy for a couple of days.
- Check critical medical supplies and equipment for family members. Oxygen and other healthcare deliveries may be delayed.

The Individual Employee

With the above preparations complete, employees should be able to concentrate on their welfare as they perform the difficult work of response and recovery from a large scale event. This is especially important because these tasks are unusual, which makes them more risky. They can go on for several extended shifts, making fatigue a factor, which again raises the risk. Employees need to be able to focus on their safety.

Recovery efforts, such as working in flood waters, may present health hazards different than routine duties. Keep your tetanus-diphtheria, influenza, and other vaccinations up to date.

When a severe weather event is forecasted:

- Inspect personal protective equipment. Replace missing or damaged gear. Pack spare gear and clothing.
- Get rest. New Jersey's Maggie's Law makes it a criminal offense if a driver is awake for longer than 24 hours and causes a traffic fatality.
- Eat a healthy, light meal. Pack snacks for the potential extended periods of work.
- Do not consume alcohol if there is a chance you will be called to respond.
- Pack personal medications and any special dietary needs. It may be difficult to break away from response / recovery efforts to take medications, etc.

There are several resources available:

OSHA provides a risk assessment matrix for hurricane response and recovery at www.osha.gov/SLTC/etools/hurricane/

FEMA also has several excellent resources for individuals and governmental agencies at www.ready.gov/business/index

The New Jersey Office of Emergency Management has resources for individuals and local governments at www.ready.nj.gov/

The American Red Cross provides tools, resources, and classes for families, workplaces, and community at www.redcross.org/
